With best wishes for a joyful holiday season and a healthy and happy New Year.

Employees contribute to 'Toys for Tots' campaign

Employees from all over the Greater Maynard Area contributed to the "Toys for Tots" campaign, which was co-sponsored by the Maynard Employee Activity Committee (meac) and the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve. Shown with just some of the toys donated are, from left, Betty Daigle of meac; Mary Thomas, a Digital retiree who is also a "Toys for Tots" volunteer; Virginia Murphy, also of meac; and Sgt. Brian Danecker of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve unit in Worcester.

Claudette Hunt, engineering process manager in the Mill, was honored at the "Salute to Excellence" Forum held by Alpha Kappa Alpha, the nation's oldest black sorority. During Claudette's 10-year career at Digital, she has served on the committee that helped to launch the Minority Education Program and also chaired the education subcommittee of the Women's Advisory Committee.

Gary Finerty received the "Digital Counterpart of the Year" award at the second annual President's Night of the Digital Equipment Computer Users Society (DECUS). Gary, who is marketing programs manager for the Education Computer Systems Group in Marlboro, was recognized for his work as the Digital counterpart for the Educational Special Interest Group. Over the past 18 months, he has worked to increase the quantity and quality of sessions scheduled at DECUS, and compiled a detailed demographic analysis of educational user attendance at the symposia.

Diane Hodes of the Human Factors department recently received an honorarium for her article, "Study, Development, and Design of a Mouse," which was published in the 1986 issue of "Proceedings of the Human Factors Society." Diane designed and conducted a series of studies to determine the size, shape, operation and use of a mouse. A mouse is a hand-operated pointing device that moves the cursor on a computer screen by being moved across a flat surface. The data from Diane's study were incorporated into the design of the new corporate mouse. ■

Digital Travel Services offering advance seat assignments, boarding passes

Employees who travel on company business for Digital can save time by taking advantage of advance airline seat assignments and boarding passes offered through Digital Travel Services.

When travelers book their flights, they can request either smoking or non-smoking sections of the aircraft. If a particular seating request is not available when the reservation is booked, the reservationist will book the next best seating. Upon arriving at the airport, travelers should ask if their first seating choice has become available. Airlines may close out seating at any time and assign seats when passengers check in at the airport. To ensure best seat selection, travelers should check in early -- 30 to 45 minutes prior to departure for domestic flights, and at least two hours prior to departure for international flights.

Advance boarding passes are also available through Travel Services. Airlines issue boarding passes 21 to 30 days prior to departure, except on certain economy flights.

For more information about obtaining advance seating assignments or boarding passes, contact your local Digital Travel Services office. ■

In memoriam

Laurie Campbell, who retired from Digital last year, died Dec. 5 of injuries suffered in an accident. She had worked for Digital for over 12 years. Laurie is survived by her husband, three children, and three grandchildren. Her daughter, Rebecca (Becky) Luppold, works at Digital's Contocook, N.H., facility. Memorial contributions may be made to the National Cathedral, Washington, D.C., or to Rosie's Place, Washington Street, Boston.

Jose Gagelro, a maintenance worker at the Mount Royal (UPO) facility in Marlboro, died Nov. 13 of injuries suffered in an accident. Jose joined Digital in 1981. He is survived by his wife and daughter. ■

Technical architecture introduced at fall IDECUS

Digital Information Systems (DIS) demonstrated a new Technical Architecture (TA) at the IDECUS symposium held recently in Boxboro. The TA helps to combine Digital's products with state-of-the-art techniques to satisfy business needs. Some specific goals of the TA are to replace paper with online access to data, provide system security at all levels, and make full use of clusters and distributed systems. The TA also enables users to serve customers faster and better, through improved management of data and information.

The "Digital Boxboro" exhibit demonstrated a complete facility where all the components of the TA worked together to provide a better computing environment for Information Systems. Each of the booths in Digital Boxboro represented a sample office that could be located at any Digital facility. For example, the "Internal Equipment Group" booth let customers check the status of their orders. "End-User Services" increased awareness of the products, tools, and services available to users at a facility. "Site I.S." showed the operations and system management aspects of the TA computing environment.

As part of implementing the TA with remote data servers, the exhibit was added to the Virginia Road (DIS headquarters) local area network by a long-distance bridging product called VITALINK. This allowed the exhibit to be wired up to Digital's EASYNET.

For a case study describing the project which resulted in Digital Boxboro, send electronic mail to DSTAR::THOMPSON or Bernice Thompson @ VRO. Sites which are considering an implementation of the TA may contact DAMSEL::GORDON or Ken Gordon @ VRO for further information. ■

Funding available for advanced development projects

Do you have an advanced development idea that complements some of the results from Microelectronics and Computer Technology Corp. (MCC) or other external research programs? Digital's Technology Development Program Office (TDP) has funds available to support such internal projects. Areas of technology TDP has supported in the past include database, human interface, artificial intelligence, parallel processing and software technology.

If you have a project proposal idea, please contact the TDP Administration (Mildred Barrett, DTN 225-5503, or RDVAX::Barrett) for a proposal package. Proposals must reach the TDP office by Jan. 30. ■

Holiday turkey giveaway

Dick Page, one of Santa's helpers, gives a holiday turkey to Larry Rossini, Corporate manager, Human Resource Development. Dick is the lead operator/back-up system manager in West Concord. More than 40,000 employees in New England received 10- to 14-pound turkeys.

Relocation Services group created

Employee relocation services have been consolidated into a new Relocation Services group within Administration. The group provides centralized services to guide employees and their managers through the relocation process.

Says Kevin Thurston, Corporate Relocation Services manager, "We handle about 2,000 domestic moves a year, that is, people who are moving from one part of the country to another. In addition, we move the household goods of employees who are relocating internationally. We also have a transferee counseling service, which helps employees through selling their present home, finding a new home, and all the other steps in the moving process. Most importantly, though, we're a resource for relocation planning. We recommend that managers and employees contact us early on, so that their move will be as smooth as possible."

Digital contracts with about a dozen vendors, whose services range from moving and storage to insuring the move itself. "We work hard to ensure that employees receive quality service, so we want to know about any problems that may arise," Kevin says.

"Our busiest time is in the summer," he continues. "The activity starts to pick up in the early spring, and it peaks in June, July, and August."

While Corporate Relocation Services resolve many problems related to moving, employees themselves can do a lot to ensure a trouble-free move, says Kevin. "Ask questions. Understand everything up front, so that little headaches don't turn into big problems."

"Relocating is a very personal, very sensitive process," Kevin concludes. "But it doesn't have to be painful." ■

Digital sues DSI Computer Services, Inc. for copyright infringement

Digital has filed suit in U.S. District Court for the District of Maryland against DSI Computer Services, Inc., of Lanham, Md., alleging copyright infringement of Digital's VAX System Diagnostic Software. The suit seeks preliminary and permanent injunctions against DSI Computer Services, Inc., to bar DSI from infringing Digital's copyrights in its VAX diagnostic software at customer locations. The suit also seeks damages and alleges that DSI's use of VAX diagnostic software constitutes willful copyright infringement.

This action taken by Digital demonstrates the company's longstanding policy and commitment to protect vigorously its innovations resulting from investments in research and development. Digital will continue to pursue intellectual property violations on a worldwide basis, as it has in pending suits involving Emulex Corp., EMC Corp., C. Itoh, and System Industries. ■

Volunteers are needed to interpret these applications for museum visitors. For more information, call the Volunteer Services Office at the museum, (617) 589-0380. ■

THE MARKETPLACE

How 'The Marketplace' works...

"The Marketplace" is a free service provided by Digital This Week for Digital employees in Massachusetts facilities. To serve as many employees as possible and keep the ads as current as possible, DTW needs your cooperation.

1. When submitting an ad, please include your full name, mailstop and internal DTN phone number. Last names do not appear in print, but must be included in the ad for our records. DTW does not print home phone numbers.
 2. Please submit only one ad at a time. Multiple submissions will be returned. Ads will appear only once.
 3. Ads must be submitted in writing (hard copy). Ads will not be accepted over electronic mail.
 4. DTW does not print ads for services (babysitting, snow-plowing, etc.) or profit-making enterprises. Ads must be worded clearly, typewritten or printed, and in good taste. DTW reserves the right to edit for space.
 5. The Marketplace has no set deadline. Ads are printed on a first-come, first served basis, as space allows, regardless of category. Please keep this in mind if your sale is a time-critical one.
 6. Ads can be cancelled simply by calling the Marketplace office. If an item has been sold, please cancel the ad so that space can be opened for another listing.
- If you have any questions about the Marketplace guidelines, call the DTW office at DTN 251-1308. ■

Coping with holiday stress, depression

(Prepared by the Greater Maynard Area Employee Assistance Program)

Depression is a common problem that affects everyone at one time or another. It is so widespread that it is thought to be the "common cold" of the psyche. In its most severe forms, depression can lead to a state in which all motivation to do or to care about things is gone.

During the holiday period, depression can be more evident than at other times of the year. Though the holidays can be exciting and joyous, they also bring extra pressures at work and at home. These extra pressures can include extra partying, more eating and drinking, less rest and less free time. These factors can contribute to unhealthy stress and depression. Common symptoms of depression include sleep disturbances, appetite loss or excessive eating, fatigue, anxiety, and inability to concentrate. People who are depressed often feel the "4 D's": defeated, defective, deserted, and deprived.

In addition, many people find that the holiday season brings anything but happiness. For them, the holidays highlight separation or divorce, death of a loved one, financial problems, work pressures, and being alone or away from home and family. Feeling alone and helpless often keeps depressed people from seeking the help they need. But depression is treatable. Learning what causes the "4 D's" is just one step toward gaining control over depression. There are ways to develop safe and effective strategies to cope with depression.

During the holidays, the following tips may be helpful:

1. Develop a holiday priority list. Set realistic limits and stick to them.
2. Think back to previous holiday times. Is there a pattern that you can anticipate and plan for?
3. Don't set yourself up. Don't make promises you can't keep. Be especially careful of the "I should" syndrome.
4. If you anticipate being alone for the holidays, try to make plans for the rough times. Think through the alternatives. Don't try to be brave.
5. Don't overindulge to compensate. Overeating, drinking too much, and partying may seem to bring temporary relief, but also emphasize depressed feelings the next day.
6. Seek help. Remember, feeling helpless and hopeless clouds your ability to think the situation through. It can make you your own worst enemy.

For more information, or for confidential assistance, contact the Greater Maynard Area Employee Assistance Program at DTN 223-4439, or your local site EAP. ■

Digital introduces hard disk DECmate

Digital has introduced the DECmate III Plus, a hard-disk version of the DECmate III floppy based word processing system. The new system provides increased speed and convenience for administrative workers, managers and other professionals who handle large amounts of text, but who also need full communications to tie into office applications such as Digital's ALL-IN-1 Office and Information System.

The DECmate III Plus system is a complementary member of the DECmate family, offering the complete word processing features of the DECmate III, including professional "Gold Key" word processing.

In addition, floppy diskettes are compatible throughout the DECmate family, allowing users who have DECmate II, III and III PLUS word processors to change diskettes directly from one system to another.

Both the DECmate III and III PLUS systems operate as standalone workstations, as terminals on a host system, or for document transfer. Either system provides VT100 or VT200 series terminal emulation access either to a LAN terminal server or directly to a VAX host to create, store and electronically send documents to other systems.

Revisable documents created on a DECmate can be easily transferred to systems that run Digital's WPS-PLUS software, such as the Rainbow personal computer, VAXmate workstations and ALL-IN-1.

The DECmate III Plus system comes complete with preinstalled 20 MByte hard disk drive, single floppy drive, monitor, keyboard, Master Menu software and Digital's full word processing software. ■

Dave Larrick (with back to camera) leads the DECcarolers in a holiday concert.
